

FREE seminar for rental owners and property managers

Essentials of Fair Housing

- Learn about state and federal fair housing laws
- Avoid costly fines and lawsuits from discrimination complaints
- Ensure equal housing opportunities for all residents

This free seminar will help rental owners and property managers understand and comply with state and federal fair housing laws that prevent housing discrimination. Enforcement of fair housing laws is ongoing in the Sacramento region. Rental owners or managers who fail to comply with the laws may be subject to thousands of dollars in fines or legal fees and even the possibility of a jail sentence.

An experienced landlord-tenant attorney will discuss current fair housing topics, which include compliance with new laws and regulations, reasonable accommodations and modifications for disabled renters, rental occupancy guidelines, assistive animals, hostile housing environment, and use of criminal history for tenant screening.

The seminar is a free public service of the Renters Helpline service, which assists renters with questions and problems regarding housing discrimination. This regional service is supported by the County of Sacramento, City of Sacramento, City of Citrus Heights, City of Elk Grove, City of Folsom, City of Rancho Cordova, Sacramento Housing & Redevelopment Agency (SHRA), Sacramento Self-Help Housing, California Apartment Association (CAA), Project Sentinel, and Legal Services of Northern California.

Seminar instructor: Puneet Singh, Managing Partner, PKS Law Group, A Professional Law Corporation
